

Message from Founder Rob Estes

When you are given a grim prognosis, a sense of numbness controls your thoughts, forcing you to choose to either fight or give up. Fortunately, I've never been a quitter. For years I have learned to face adversity that stood in the way of my plans. Many of my life's challenges seem trivial now compared to the challenge of fighting terminal Glioblastoma brain cancer. This prognosis was much bigger than anything I could handle alone. I needed GOD!

Choosing to live life in Christ years ago, relying on Philippians 4:13 to overcome life's challenges, was just training for greater things to come. My life verse got me through those first 24 months of fighting cancer, and then I had a reoccurrence and another craniotomy. Once again, desperate choices invaded my mind, and again out of the book of Philippians, verse 1:6, I found assurance in Paul's writings from prison. "For I am confident of this, that He who began a good work in you will continue to perfect it until the day of Christ Jesus." What is "it" that God is perfecting in me? I know God is at work in me, and "it" is my purpose. I do my best to use my testimony to encourage others in need of hope.

I am nothing without Christ, and He has heard all of your prayers for healing miracles. It is my hope that I will continue to suffer well and grow even stronger in my purpose to speak life into those in need. "To live is Christ, and to die is gain" (Philippians 1:21). I have asked God far too many times lately, when learning about the deaths of friends and fellow cancer warriors, why He took them instead of me. I don't feel worthy, but God's grace is sufficient, and He needs me here a while longer. I am thankful and praise God for allowing me to be diagnosed with cancer. It is my prayer that through our efforts here at Can't Never Could—both financially and prayerfully—God will perfect "it" for the kingdom of Heaven, and a cure for cancer will be found, and then there will be no more suffering. In honor of all those loved warriors who have gone ahead, I trust and believe that the time we mourn our loved ones' passing will seem like mere seconds when we are together again in eternity.

To all of our donors, thank you for partnering with us here at Can't Never Could. We hope you'll be blessed as you read this year's newsletter and see what an impact you are having in the lives of others.

—Rob Estes

GOALS

Update

- Provide financial support for brain cancer and brain tumor patients.

- Provide financial support for families facing other adversity through illness.

CNC provided Summer Camp Scholarships to Fellowship of Christian Athletes students.

We have given 65 individual grants for illness, with the grants totaling $65,000.

- Provide funding to fulfill our commitment to the Piedmont Brain Tumor Center.

We fulfilled our $25,000 pledge to the Piedmont Brain Tumor Center.

- Provide Bibles and Summer Camp Scholarships for Fellowship of Christian Athletes students.

We have given $6,500 to FCA over the last three years, providing Bibles and Summer Camp Scholarships for Fellowship of Christian Athletes students.

- Provide a summer camp scholarship for a child with a learning disability to attend Squirrel Hollow Camp at The Bedford School.

We have given $7,500 over the past three years for students with learning disabilities to attend Squirrel Hollow Camp at The Bedford School.

- Provide a college scholarship in 2016 to graduating seniors whose families face financial devastation due to cancer or another life-threatening illness. This scholarship will be offered at all three Coweta County public high schools, Trinity School, The Heritage School and Harris County High School.

We have given $5,000 in college scholarships to graduating seniors whose families face financial devastation due to cancer or another life-threatening illness.

- Expand our support and giving area through fundraising ventures in multiple areas.

We gave $500 to Camp Kesem to send a camper to this summer camp for kids who have a parent battling cancer or who have lost a parent battling cancer.

Third Annual Georgia Cup held at Big Red Oak Plantation

Can't Never Could hosted its Third Annual Georgia Cup, Targeting Adversity Sporting Clays Tournament September 16-18, 2016 at Big Red Oak Plantation in Gay. Sporting clays shooting has been compared to "golf with a shotgun," and participants in the Georgia Cup at Big Red Oak Plantation got to shoot clay targets on a 2,500-acre shooting preserve.

Members of the winning team this year were Rob Estes, Chad Wilson, Tom Barron and Gary Parker.

We are so grateful to Piedmont Cancer for serving as our Presenting Sponsor for this year's Georgia Cup, which had a tournament format. We also appreciate our Breakfast Sponsor, Waffle House, and our Lunch Sponsor, Strathmore.

Next June, Big Red Oak will be the site of the US Open for the National Sporting Clays Association.

President and CEO of Big Red Oak Plantation is CNC founder Rob Estes, who is a seventh-generation family member to work on the land.

In addition to the sporting clays shooting, the event also included an educational display and other materials about CNC as well as a Silent Auction. Members of the organization were on site to answer questions and greet guests who were participating.

For information about next year's event, check the Can't Never Could website at cantnevercouldinc.com.

Aimee Copeland to speak at 2017 Grey Matters dinner event

Aimee Copeland is a 28-year-old adventure lover, and community advocate. Aimee enjoys whitewater kayaking, listening to live music, and reading. She just completed her Master of Social Work and is working toward becoming a Licensed Clinical Social Worker. She also holds a Bachelor of Science from University of Georgia and a Master of Arts from the University of West Georgia, where she concentrated on Ecopsychology.

In May of 2012 a tragic zip-lining accident led to the amputations of Aimee's left leg, right foot, and both hands.

As a quadruple amputee and necrotizing fasciitis survivor, Aimee is an advocate for the community of individuals with disabilities, serving on the Advisory Council for Tools for Life and on the Board of Directors for Friends of Disabled Adults and Children. Aimee's goal is to open an accessible community growth center and nature park where individuals of all ages and abilities can enjoy outdoor recreation and other holistic therapeutic options.

The dinner will be Friday, March 17, 2017 beginning at 6 p.m. at The Newnan Centre.

Sponsorship opportunities for the dinner are now available. Categories of sponsorship include:

- Diamond Sponsor, $4,000 or more
- Platinum Sponsor, $2,500
- Gold Sponsor, $1,000
- Silver Sponsor, $500

CNC gives scholarships to three high school students, one elementary student

This year, Can't Never Could was pleased to announce the winners of its first annual Can't Never Could Inc. Scholarships. This scholarship is an annual scholarship available to a graduating senior who has been accepted into a four-year college, two-year college, or technical school and wishes to further his or her education. To qualify for the scholarship, the applicant must have an immediate family member who is battling or has battled cancer or the applicant is personally battling cancer (any type) or a brain tumor or brain injury, causing the applicant to have a financial hardship.

The East Coweta High School recipient is Brianna Trammell, who received her award from Jennie Adcock of the CNC Board. Brianna is described by her teachers, employers, and parents as inspirational and hardworking with a strong sense of character and work ethic. She is dependable, responsible and has maintained an excellent grade point average while participating in school clubs, working a part-time job, and helping support her family as her father battles cancer. She plans to pursue a degree in Criminology with an emphasis in Social Work from the University of West Georgia and desires to "support children who are in need and help them start a better future for themselves."

The Newnan High School recipient, Amy Slaton, is described by her teacher, employer, and parent as focused and cheerful, with a hard work ethic and a strong desire to succeed. She is trustworthy, responsible, and has maintained a high grade point average while balancing school clubs and sports and a part-time job. She plans to pursue a degree in Sonography from Armstrong State University, and she desires to work with expectant parents during this special time in their lives and "provide them with a picture they can cherish forever." Jennifer Wilson presented the award to Amy on behalf of CNC.

The Northgate High School recipient, Talia Price, received her award from CNC's Christi and Rob Estes. Talia is described by her teachers and parents as cheerful, positive, grateful, and hardworking, with a respectful demeanor and tremendous work ethic. She is a leader and a motivator and has maintained a high grade point average while participating in school clubs and working a part-time job. Although she is undecided on her major, she plans to attend a college that encourages student involvement, allowing her to challenge the status quo and strive to make improvements for society and the betterment of all.

This year's Squirrel Hollow Scholarship given by Can't

Never Could was awarded to Austin Roper. Austin lives in Newnan with his grandparents, Theresa and Rick Moore. He has completed kindergarten at Ruth Hill Elementary. Squirrel Hollow Camp is an academic and recreational summer program operated by The Bedford

Austin Roper with grandparents, Theresa and Rick Moore. Also pictured are Rob, Christi and Sara Ashley Estes, and The Bedford School director, Dr. Betsy Box.

School in Fairburn. At the camp, Austin received tutoring in reading, math and writing and participated in recreational activities.

Theresa Moore said that while Austin had a good kindergarten teacher, he had been struggling in school and said, "I can't do what the other children can." When Austin's family heard about the Squirrel Hollow program, they were trying to find a way to send him for two weeks but learned of the opportunity for a scholarship that would let him attend for four weeks.

"There was no way we could have afforded four weeks," Theresa said.

While she was a little nervous about how Austin would react to the program, she said that from the first day, "He felt like he belonged."

Theresa said Austin is having a great school year now, and the Squirrel Hollow program had an incredibly positive influence on him.

And Can't Never Could? Theresa said the group's name is indicative of the great things CNC can do.

"It's an amazing organization," she said.

We are so grateful for the support that makes all of these scholarships possible!

Denise Jackson headlines Third Annual Can't Never Could Dinner

The third annual Can't Never Could dinner fundraiser was held at The Newnan Centre on March 18, 2016. Our speaker was Newnan native Denise Jackson, a cancer survivor, best-selling author and wife of country music superstar Alan Jackson.

Denise said that when she and Alan moved to Nashville thirty years ago so he could pursue his dream of becoming a country music singer, they had no idea he was embarking on a career that would see him selling millions of records, earning more than 100 industry awards, and even being invited to the White House for dinner.

Despite her husband's celebrity, Denise said that public speaking is "not my cup of tea," so when she received a packet from CNC asking her to speak at the 2016 dinner, "I cringed."

After praying about the invitation, however, Denise said she felt God prompting her to accept the engagement and tell others of the great things God has done in her family's life in recent years.

Over five years ago, Denise said, she received a cancer diagnosis, and she told of how her faith sustained her in that trial as well as others, including a separation from her husband and, later, daughter Ali's struggle to overcome years of debilitating migraines. Denise said she felt God wanted her to share with the audience in Newnan how God has seen her through all these circumstances—though Alan warned her not to get to Newnan and "preach" to everyone.

Denise joked that she told him, "Just go on to Jackson, Mississippi, and do your little show."

The praying of scripture has been an important practice in her life, Denise said, so during the time she and Alan were separated, "I was praying spirit and life back into my marriage." She also prayed a lot of scripture during the three and a half years her middle daughter was suffering with those debilitating migraines.

In 2010, when Denise was diagnosed with colorectal cancer, she'd had no risk factors for the disease except for turning 50.

She went through chemotherapy and radiation and ultimately got a clear scan, and prayer helped sustain her during her illness.

She told a humorous story of the time her oldest daughter, Mattie, was three, and she and Denise wanted to visit Alan backstage after a concert but had lost the all-access pass they needed. Someone told them they couldn't go see Alan, and Mattie said, "But Mommy, we can, because Daddy said so." Denise said this is similar to a Christian believing the truths of scripture because the heavenly father has spoken them.

Denise spoke repeatedly of the importance of knowing what her heavenly father has to say through scripture. "God's word is always his will," she said.

The next Can't Never Could Grey Matters dinner will be March 17, 2017. For details, visit cantnevercouldinc.com.

Brooks Leebern got rave reviews for his singing at the dinner.

Guests enjoy their meals at the 2016 Grey Matters dinner event.

Q&A with Board Member Daryle Smith

to speak to a group at Northgate, as we were coming out of the school, Rob just invited me to be a missionary on the FCA staff, and God provided it from there.

Rob: Can't Never Could and I use Philippians 4:13 as a light post. Since you're an area rep for FCA, what does Philippians 4:13 mean to you?

Daryle: Funny you would say that, because I've shared it this Sunday with a group of kids as well as sharing it at Northgate with another young lady. Philippians 4:13 says we can do all things through Christ, but we have to remember, we cannot do anything without Christ pulling us through. What I teach them in that is, don't focus on the all, focus on the process with Christ. If Christ doesn't pull you through it, you can't do it. And so you know the second thing that I encourage the kids about with this scripture is that Paul encouraged us that we can do everything through Christ from jail. I think that was very important because most people write to people in jail to encourage them. But Paul was writing to the world to encourage us.

Rob: Since accepting our invitation to join the Can't Never Could board, what do you hope to contribute?

Daryle: Man, just God's will. I just want to be led by the Holy Spirit. I feel honored. I've learned so much in the couple of months that I've been a part of it, but I just really want to do God's will whatever that is. Right now my first year, I'm just really kind of learning the ropes. But I'm just asking God to lead and guide me, and then to be a vessel to let others know, whether it's a director in Atlanta or a young kid in Northgate, that there are people and organizations out there that will help them through this. And to let them know that Christ is still a provider for those. So don't worry about the medical bills, don't worry about the medical treatment, just focus on Christ and know that you can do all things as he pulls them through this.

Rob: Last week, you invited me to speak at a group of 100 or so students at East Coweta Middle School. I spoke about my testimony and I shared with them the trials that I go through and will continue to go through the rest of my life. Today I actually leave to fly back to Louisville for more treatment. Tell me something about these young Newnan girls and boys that experienced that for the first time last week.

Daryle: When I first started at EC Middle, we had 26. By the time Rob (Estes) got there, it had jumped to 92. So in about six months, you saw a big increase. What a lot of people don't know is, three weeks prior to that, they lost a dear member that used to minister at that school. So the first two weeks was just preaching and pouring into them about the hope of God. So when Rob showed up, it was a physical example of God's hope and his grace. So even though they were mourning, and youth pastors came in to encourage them about God's hope, Rob actually walking in the school and talking to those groups of kids actually showed them that hope is real. It's something tangible that God could give them. It's not only the kids, but there was a lot of staff that were in there that were encouraged by his words. And to show what Philippians 4:13 is. He's not totally healed yet, but he's allowing Christ to pull him through. So it's not just a fancy cliché to those kids now. It's not just a verse that they hear preached in church, but they actually saw Philippians 4:13 in Rob that day for him to stand there and say what God was doing in his life and how it all started from an FCA huddle with a chaplain, and now he's living it, and it's spreading so others can be pulled in through Christ.

Rob: This morning at Ironman, we talked about how there is an awakening here in Newnan. It's here. What kind of word or prophesy could you give me as encouragement today before I go for my next treatment?

Daryle: Philippians 1:6 says, "He that begun a good work in you will see it to the end. Rob ain't going nowhere until it's fulfilled through God. Whatever God said in his mother's womb, when he was swimming around, like Jeremiah, to make him a prophet among nations, nothing is fixing to happen. God is going to have his hand on him and his family until it is completed. And the doctors can't give a date. Surgeons can't give a date. Only God can. As far as revival in Newnan, it's here, it's flooded. And because of organizations like Can't Never Could and FCA, and youth pastors and ministers coming in the community, y'all are gonna see an explosion of God, not only in the schools but in this community."

CNC renovates bathroom for Parker family

Before

When William Parker of Fayetteville was diagnosed with glioblastoma, it was a devastating blow to him and his wife, Jo Ellen. He had returned home from two years of serving as a civilian contractor in Afghanistan, and her husband's strange behavior at first led Jo Ellen to think he had some form of PTSD. Then came the day she found her six-foot-three, 260-pound husband on the floor.

In December of 2015, William was diagnosed with glioblastoma, and their lives were forever changed.

Jo Ellen said she and William learned about Can't Never Could through their doctor.

"We shared the same neuro-oncologist," Jo Ellen said, noting that Dr. Erin Dunbar, whose patients have included CNC founder Rob Estes, told them about an organization she supports that might be able to assist them with some needs.

Because William is "a large man," Jo Ellen said, it was impossible for him to maneuver his wheelchair into the bathroom of the small, older house where he and his wife live. Thanks to Can't Never Could, Jo Ellen was able to contact a contractor, get some estimates, and have a new bathroom designed for her husband. Soon some CNC volunteers were at the Parker home to see the contractors hard at work on the job and to share in a time of prayer over William and Jo Ellen. Today the Parker bathroom is accessible to both William and his wife.

"They basically made a large room that he could wheel into," she said, and after the renovation, with a caregiver's help, she can get him in and out of the bathroom.

The renovated bathroom has been a wonderful gift to the Parkers, especially William. "You forget how nice it is to have warm water all over you," Jo Ellen said.

Because the renovated bathroom is handicapped accessible, William can even access the sink, and "he has enjoyed it."

"It's been more than an addition, it's been a lifesaver," she said.
